RECOUNT ELECTIONS
FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q. When is a mandatory machine recount conducted?

If the difference between the candidates is less than one half of one percent and also less than 2,000 votes, a machine recount is required.

Q. When is a manual recount conducted?

In a statewide race, the difference between the candidates is less than one quarter of one percent and also less than 1,000 votes.

In regional and local offices, the difference between the candidates is less than 150 votes and one quarter of one percent.

Q. Who determines when a recount must be conducted?

The Office of the Secretary of State orders recounts for state offices, state measures and multi-county legislative, congressional and judicial offices.

The County Canvassing Board orders recounts for local offices and single jurisdictions.

Q. When is the recount conducted?

The County Canvassing Board(s) determine the date and time of the recount. If the Office of the Secretary of State orders the recount it may require the counties to submit results of the recounts on a uniform date.

Q. Who can request a recount?

Any candidate or officer of a political party for whom votes were cast may request a recount. Any group of five or more registered voters may request a recount for any question or measure.

Q. Who pays for the recount?

The State reimburses the counties for mandatory recounts for State Measures. The counties pay for all other mandatory recounts. In the case of a requested recount, the individual or group who makes the request pays for the recount unless the outcome is reversed, and then the county pays.

Q. Are people allowed to observe the process?

Observers, appointed by the political parties, and the candidates or their representatives, are encouraged to observe all stages of the recount. They should ask questions to the appropriate person about their observations, but may not disrupt the process. Other members of the public may also be allowed to observe the process.

Q. When is a recount not conducted?

There are no recounts for local measures. There are also no recounts if the first and second candidates are close in a primary election.

Q. What happens after the recount?

The County Canvassing Boards certify the results of the recount by submitting an amended abstract of votes. If the recount was for a statewide office, state measure, or multi-county legislative, congressional and judicial offices, County Canvassing Boards submit the results to the Office of the Secretary of State and the Office of the Secretary of State certifies the results.
